

FREE!

Katie Boyle's

EURO VISION LINGUA-SPECS<sup>TM</sup>

Ever been embarrassed in a foreign country because you couldn't speak the language? I haven't, because I speak absolutely loads of languages, me, and now YOU can too with my FREE Eurovision Lingua-specs. Behind the 'polaroid' style fashion frames you can insert a wealth of euro-information and foreign phrases for your quick and easy reference. So no matter where you are abroad or what you want to say, just pop in the appropriate lingualens and "voilla" – you can speak foreign, just like me.

Cut out and assemble your glasses by affixing the arms to tabs A and B. Then cut out the six lingualenses. Those on the left contain a road atlas and invaluable information about the various countries you will be visiting, whilst those on the right provide a comprehensive phrase book for every conceivable occasion. Select the lens required and fix it inside your glasses using the tabs and slots provided. Then simply read off the relevant information as it is required.

FRANCE

POINTS TO NOTE

The French man is romantic and carefree – so expect to wait three hours for a meal in a restaurant while the waiter tries to chat up your bird. And take care on the roads – the French are genetically unable to drive, but persist in trying to do so. Make sure you have comprehensive motor insurance before you travel. And unless you like onions, gravy browning and croissants, take your own breakfast.

USEFUL INFORMATION

Capital City: PARIS
 Currency: FRANCS
 Food: ONIONS, SNAILS
 National Dress: BERET, ONIONS
 Whose side were they on in the war: OURS

IN THE TROUSER SHOP

Chez le pantalonier
 I would like to buy a pair of trousers please.
Je voudrez acheter une poivre de pantalons, s'il vous plait.
 I would prefer something in an elephant cord.
Je preferez quelque-chose dans le cord d'éléfant.
 Do you have any trousers which are a little darker?
Avez-vous quelques pantalons qui sont un peu plus foncé?
 Hmm. Well. These seem fine. I'll take them.
Boof. Alors. Ceux semblent beaux. Je vais le prendre.

ON THE BEACH

Sur le plage
 Excuse me. Is anyone sitting on this bit of beach?
Excusez-moi. S'asseyer quelqu'un sur cette morceau de plage?
 Hey! Let's go and play with my beach ball in the sea.
Alors! Allons jouer avec mon ballon de la plage dans le mer.
 Look everyone. I've built a sandcastle with my bucket and spade.
Regardez tout le monde. J'ai fait un chateau de plage avec mon pelle et seu.
 I would like to buy a '99 with hundreds and thousands.
Je voudrez acheter une quatre vingts dix-neuf avec cents et milles.

ITALY

POINTS TO NOTE

Italians are hot blooded, fiery tempered, bandy legged Latin romeos. Ladies can expect to have their bottoms pinched all day, and gentlemen their wallets. For Italy is the home of the Mafia, and its streets bustle with organised crime. Avoid St Peters Square in Rome where coffee will cost you £14 a cup.

USEFUL INFORMATION

Capital City: ROME
 Currency: LIRA
 Food: SPAGHETTI, PIZZA
 Tourist Attractions: TOWER OF PIZZA, POPE
 Whose side were they on in the war: WHOEVER WAS WINING AT THE TIME

IN THE RAILWAY STATION

Alla Stazione
 I would like to buy a railway ticket to Rome, please.
Uno per Roma, per favore.
 I would like to buy two railway tickets to Rome, please.
Due per Roma, per favore.
 Is this the right train for Florence please?
Siamo su lo treno destro per Firenze per favore?
 Goodness gracious! Stop! I am aboard the wrong train!
Mama mia! Finale! Sono su lo treno tagliatello!

AT THE BUS STATION

Alla Stazione
 I would like to buy a bus ticket to Rome, please.
Uno per roma, per favore.
 I would like to buy two bus tickets to Rome, please.
Due per Roma, per favore.
 Is this the right bus for Florence?
Siamo su lo busso destro per Firenze per favore?
 Goodness gracious! Stop! I am aboard the wrong bus!
Mama Mia! Finale! Sono su lo busso tagliatello!

GERMANY

POINTS TO NOTE

Tall, blonde and blue eyed, Germans have no sense of humour. Don't try queueing in a German shop – you'll be there forever. Pushing to the front is the order of the day. When in Germany take great care not to mention the war. Even though they are now our very best friends and allies in Europe, the two world wars are still an extremely sensitive issue amongst Germans (because they lost both of them).

USEFUL INFORMATION

Capital City: BERLIN
 Currency: DEUTCHMARKS
 Food: SAUSAGES, BEER
 National Dress: LEATHER SHORTS, BRACES
 Position in 1966 World Cup Final: SECOND

AT THE PUB

Auf dem Bierkellar
 I would like two pints of beer, please.
Ich liebe zwei Steine dem Bier, bitte.
 Hey! This beer is warm and cloudy!
Achtung! Das Bier varum und bedekt ist!
 I've tasted better piss. Give me my money back.
Ich guten mas gute Skol habe. Donnen ze nicht mainer Geld gebekt.
 Take your hands off me! Who won the bloody war anyway?
Lessen mit seiner hünde ich! Voss schmeckt das blitzen dammen libfrau?

AT THE HOSPITAL

Auf dem Krankenhaus
 Doctor. I've just been beaten up in the pub.
Herr Doktor. Ich bist der schmäken auf der Bierkellar haben.
 I think my nose is broken.
Ich pänze meinen Schnattzlich germünchen ist.
 Oh God. I think I'm going to be sick.
Mein Gott. Ich pänze gevomonlichten gehen bist.
 Take your hands off me! Who won the bloody war anyway?
Lessen mit seiner hünde ich! Voss schmeckt das blitzen dammen libfrau?

